barons remain active throughout summer

Students enjoy the signature hop as they sign yearbooks and see old friends at the close of summer vacation.

Senior Becky Clement works at a local department store during summer vacation to make good use of her spare time.

While working as a cashier in a local store, Debi Tuttle takes time out to chat with Karen Bunch.

Mr. Norris demands perfection from his Marching Barons and expects his band to put on their shows with esprit de corps.

Working for the betterment of our community, DHS students spend summer hours as employees of the city.

Orientation night, the freshmen and their parents pick up their schedules and pay for their book rental.

Frosh Jane Dunn experiences a typical frustration of trying to get her locker combination to work.

dekalb county fall fair breaks baron study routine

The 69-70 DeKalb fair queen, Cindy Dickman, arrives at the grandstand with Kerry Heffley.

Dianne Korff, Tedra Simanton, Sherry Smith, and Jeff Kingsbury are entranced by the vibrant sound of "The Young and Free," who appeared nightly at the Mousehole.

Awarded the title of second runner-up in the queen contest was Kathy Smith, escorted by Rick James.

Always a center of activity was the fair booth where juniors Susy Charleston, Jack Hanes, and Pat Teixeira are selling another ticket on the color T.V.

Aiming for a perfect shot, Keith Bunch tries for another stuffed animal.

The Wicked Witch of the West (alias Debi Tuttle) and Dorothy (alias Joyce Baysinger) ride on their prize-winning Tri-Hi-Y float.

Disciplined marching habits appeal to all of the spectators as they watch the "Marching Barons" in a parade.

Left: Just strolling around the court square can be enjoyable for seniors Nancy Taylor and Ron Diehm. Above: Debbie Martin seems lost in the memories of "when we were kids!"

You don't have to be a kid to enjoy the fair, just young at heart.

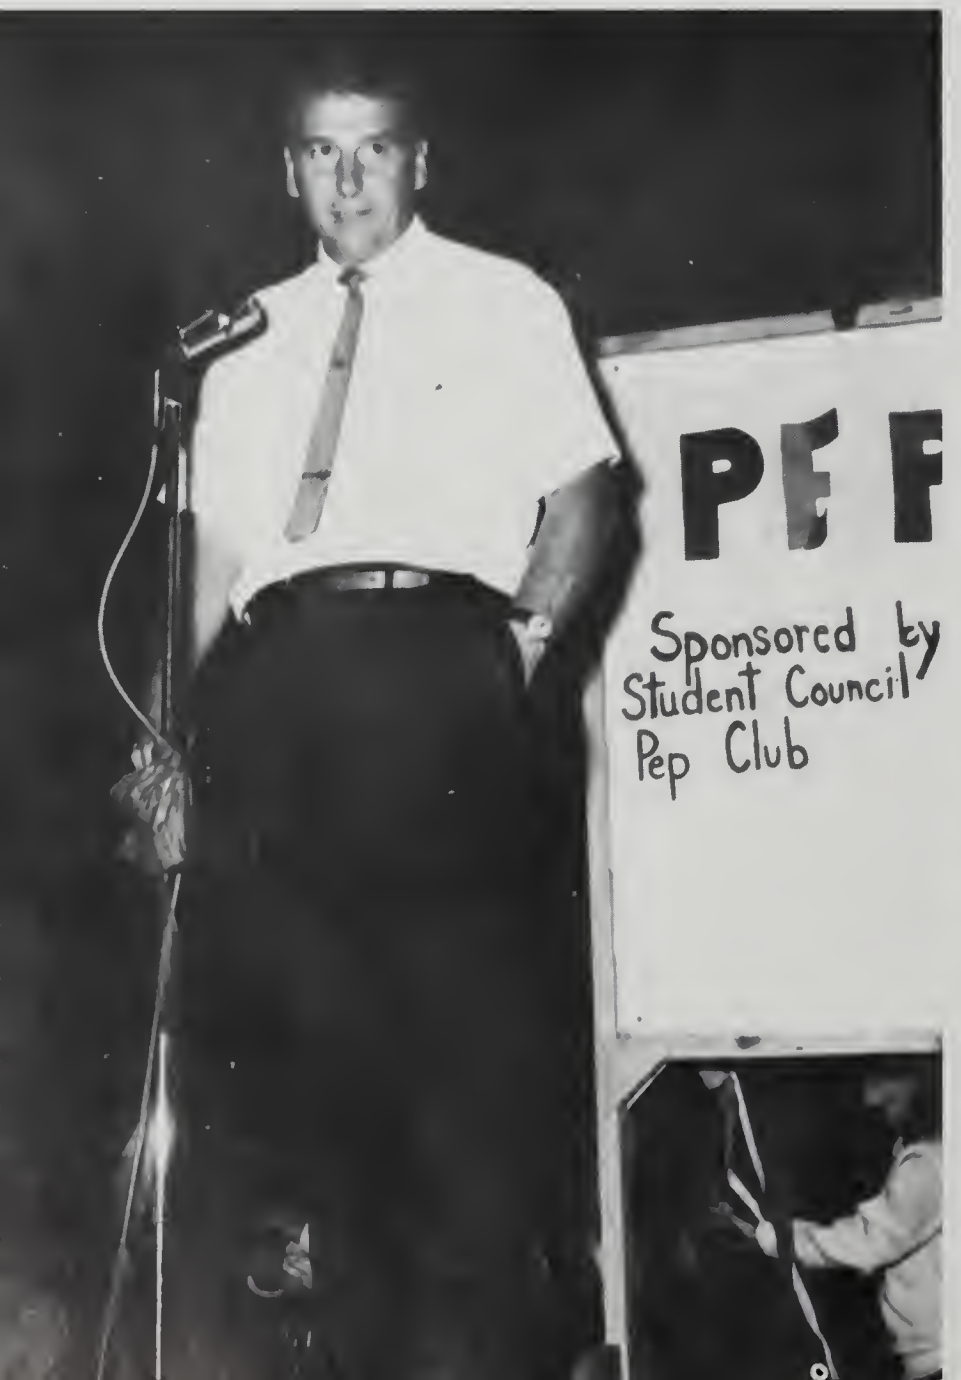
Mr. Love rings his chimes.

Even the greenies do their part in promoting school spirit.

Neither rain, nor snow, nor sleet stops the loyal fans from cheering the team on to victory.

"Give me an F . . . I . . . G . . . H . . . T! What's it spell?" Coach Platt receives a king-size response.



DeKalb's faculty members keep their reputation for being the best-dressed teachers in this area.

enthusiasm characterizes 'baron spirit'

"We're from DeKalb, couldn't be prouder!" The well-known cheer is a short and simple definition of the Baron fans' purpose. The Pep Club, cheerleaders, and all of the other fans work together to promote spirit. Whether the Baron teams win or lose, the faithful "Baron Backers" are always there to cheer the team upward and onward. From the very beginning of all of the games, to the very end of all of the games, this support proved to be an asset to the many athletic wins.

Student Body President Jeff Turner is master of ceremonies at DeKalb's outdoor Super Pep Rally at the start of the football season.

"Let's hear it for the Barons!" Seniors Jeff Turner and Tom Duesler shake the "Spirit Stick."

"36—24—36 Hike!" Sophomore girls put on a skit to promote school spirit.

The Marching Barons encourage the Barons to get another touchdown.

campus life is on the move

Campus Life is the action-packed school club that provides teens with opportunities to participate in the unique and unusual. Combined with the action, Campus Lifers find stimulating discussions on contemporary issues and clues to the secrets of living the "balanced life".

w Carolyn, work first, refreshments later.

In its first year of operation in DeKalb County, Junior Achievement has proven itself successful. Over 60 juniors and seniors from DHS participated in JA and learned exactly what it was like to originate, operate, and liquidate a business. During the year of operation, each of four companies raised capital to start their business, produced and sold a product, and at the end of the year paid dividends on its stock. This first year of Junior Achievement in DeKalb County has proven quite fruitful and the sponsoring companies are looking forward to even bigger and better things in the years to come.

Relief! All finished and ready to sell.

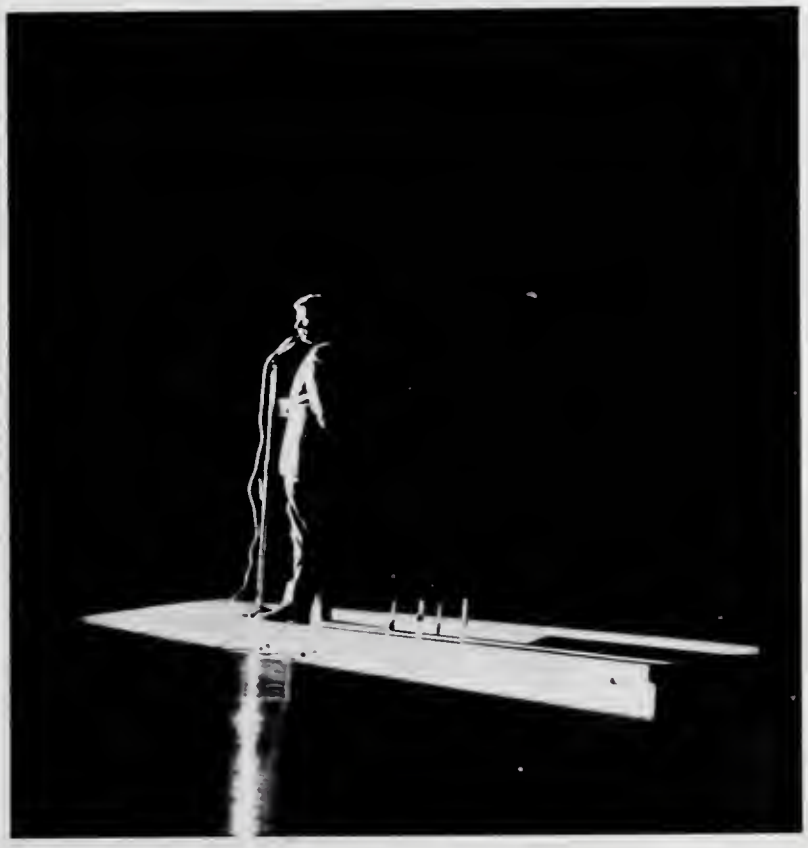
The most perplexing trick of all was the one involving the trunk. Here Rody lets the students inspect the canvas bag.

The joyful Christmas feeling is depicted in the play presented at the Christmas Assembly.

Mr. Ford helps to seat the exuberant Barons as they prepare for another exciting assembly.

While being a part of Rody's magic show, Mr. Black introduces the well-known magician.



the miracle worker

Thespian activities for the year culminated on April 3rd and 4th with the production of William Gibson's "The Miracle Worker", the story of Anne Sullivan and her struggle to aid Helen Keller in communicating from her dark, silent world. Two sellout crowds watched as Debbie Ritenour, as Anne, and Beth Sockrider, as Helen, recreated the early life of one of the twentieth century's most accomplished women.

As the plot thickens, Betsy Rodecap, Dennis Kutzner, and Richard Dennison take time to sing "How Can Love Survive."

Maria, Kathy Hartman, angelically prays for the success of "The Sound Of Music."

While the dancers prance gaily (above), Mrs. Hansen smiles during practice, holding herself up with a doorway.

Unused to applause, the directors shyly stand behind the tombstones of the abbey.

Keeping time with the music of an offbeat band at a Baron record hop, Jerry Dennis does his own thing.

Seniors Marilyn Shultz, Malcolm Boswell, and Debbie Ritenour swing at one of our great DeKalb Barons victory dances.

Freshman Chris Watson does have a way of charming the younger boys, doesn't she?

There are always many spectators gathered around the band at every dance. These boys appear to be enjoying it.

Senior Grover O'Dell dances to the beat of a DeKalb combo.

Happiness is meeting your friends at the Baron record hops.

As part of a swinging band, Tom Hefty and Greg McClure entertain the Barons.

The G.A.A. girls look very pleased with the way their dance turned out.

The thirst for knowledge is quenched for another day.

Students and teachers alike, leave their cars to the care of the parking lot.

swap day is a learning experience for all

During Swap Day, Mr. King took the parents on tours of DeKalb High School.

Many of the parents found that the books were pretty heavy, and it felt good to sit down for an hour during class.

Eating at the cafeteria doesn't seem to thrill our students, but Mrs. Schmidt seems to be enjoying it.

This man looks quite confused as the other adults did on Swap Day.

'busy barons' make use of study areas

Steve Grogg looks very studious as he uses the library.

Everything seems quiet as Debbie Nugen studies for tomorrow's lesson.

The library provides both recreation and a place to study for our students.

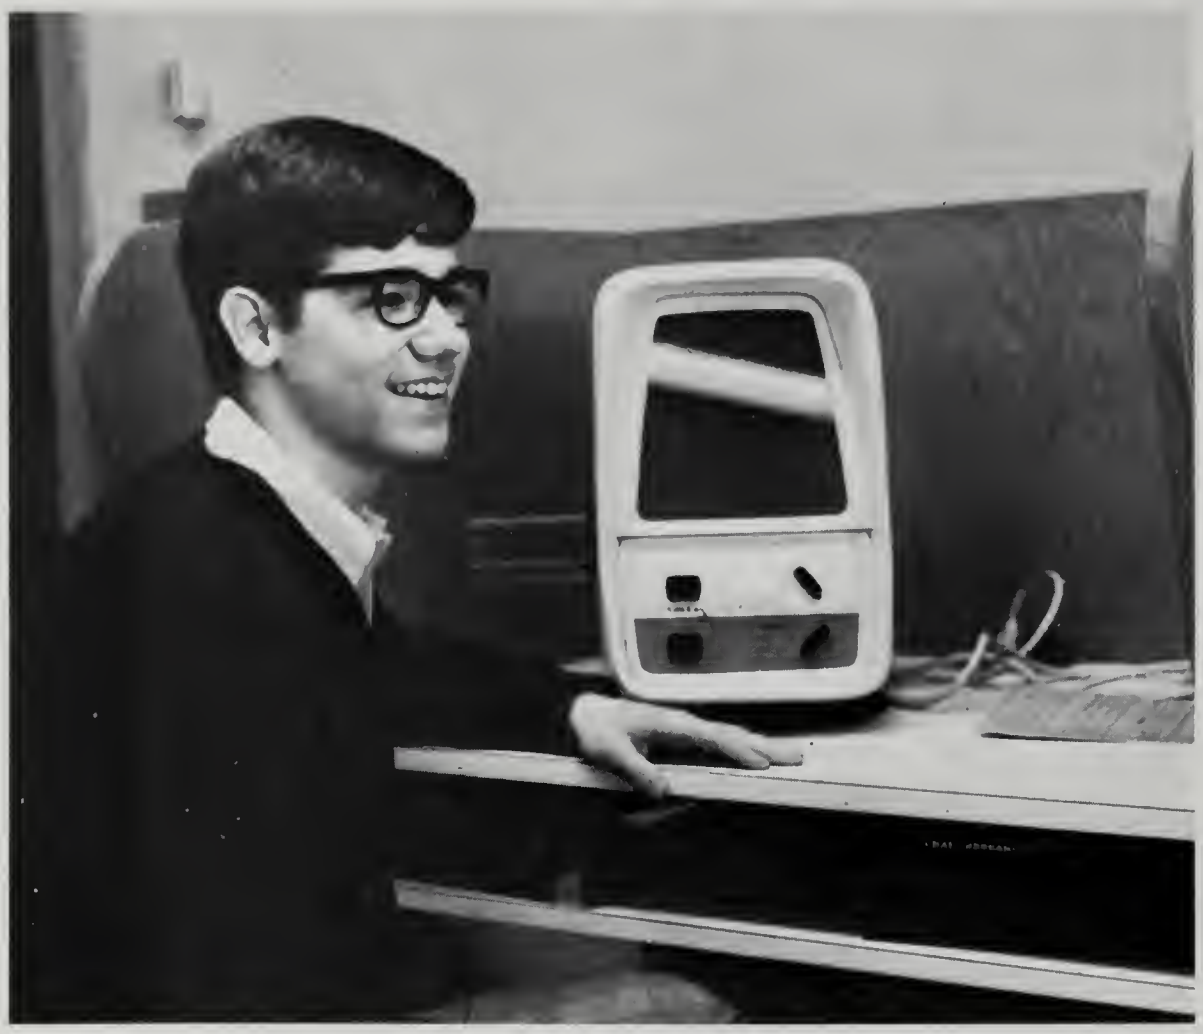
academics

english courses express sign of the times



Gary Daub is very pleased to learn that he has increased his reading rate, "one word per minute!"

From Shakespeare to Dickens, from vocabulary words to compound-complex sentences, from term papers to epic poems, English students studied basic and advanced application of their language. The students from DHS have the opportunities to choose among Speech, Composition I and II, Dramatics, World and American Literature, Journalism, Stagecraft, and Basic English. Also, as part of Basic English there are six weeks of Developmental Reading. All of these areas help to expand the student's knowledge to the greatest degree in the language arts.

"How big, Pam?"

DeKalb student "hangs it up."

The North Side debate team appears very intent upon the issues as they debate for DeKalb's English classes.

In an unusual composition class session, Yoga enthusiast Mary Stone demonstrates the lotus position with Donn Starkey, Doug Wills, and Tim May with varying degrees of success.

Smells so good you don't want to shave it off!

future einsteins discover life's secrets

OK, Albert, I'll go through it one more time.

And then, Denise, you fry it in butter, and boy, does it ever taste good!

These freshmen don't think that the problem can be solved, but Mr. Davy will show them.

Well-supplied science rooms aid students in their search for answers to the never-ending problems in science.

The Survey Science class is a basis for the specific and more advanced science classes.

BSCS Biology and Advanced Biology are classes for those students wishing to advance their knowledge of frogs, clams, and the fellow student.

Laboratory work plays a major part in Chemistry I and Advanced Chemistry. The excitement of observing how atoms "do their thing", or performing colorful or smelly experiments outweighs the agony of the torturous tests.

Also included in the science curriculum is Physics. This class tackles basic concepts and the laws of nature.

Perhaps one of our future scientists will make it to the moon.

A necessary part of any science class is the lecture, as Mr. Murphy and his overhead projector prove.

And then you add just a dash of . . . Mr. Barber is preparing a secret formula for speedy growth.

Phew! Bill DeWitt thinks that Advanced Chemistry is a stinky business.

Ginger Schmidt, Rick Roark, and Gary Reynolds are discovering that the rubber tubing and the glass pipes are "little devils" to put together.

study of language provides world harmony

The joys of mastering French, Spanish, Latin, and German is an ample reward for DHS students. Native French and Spanish voices instruct first-year students in the language with lab recordings. In advanced classes the students polish their basic skills.

The French lab comes alive as Junior Karen Hurd parades through the rows.

This Latin class appears to be enjoying their discussion.

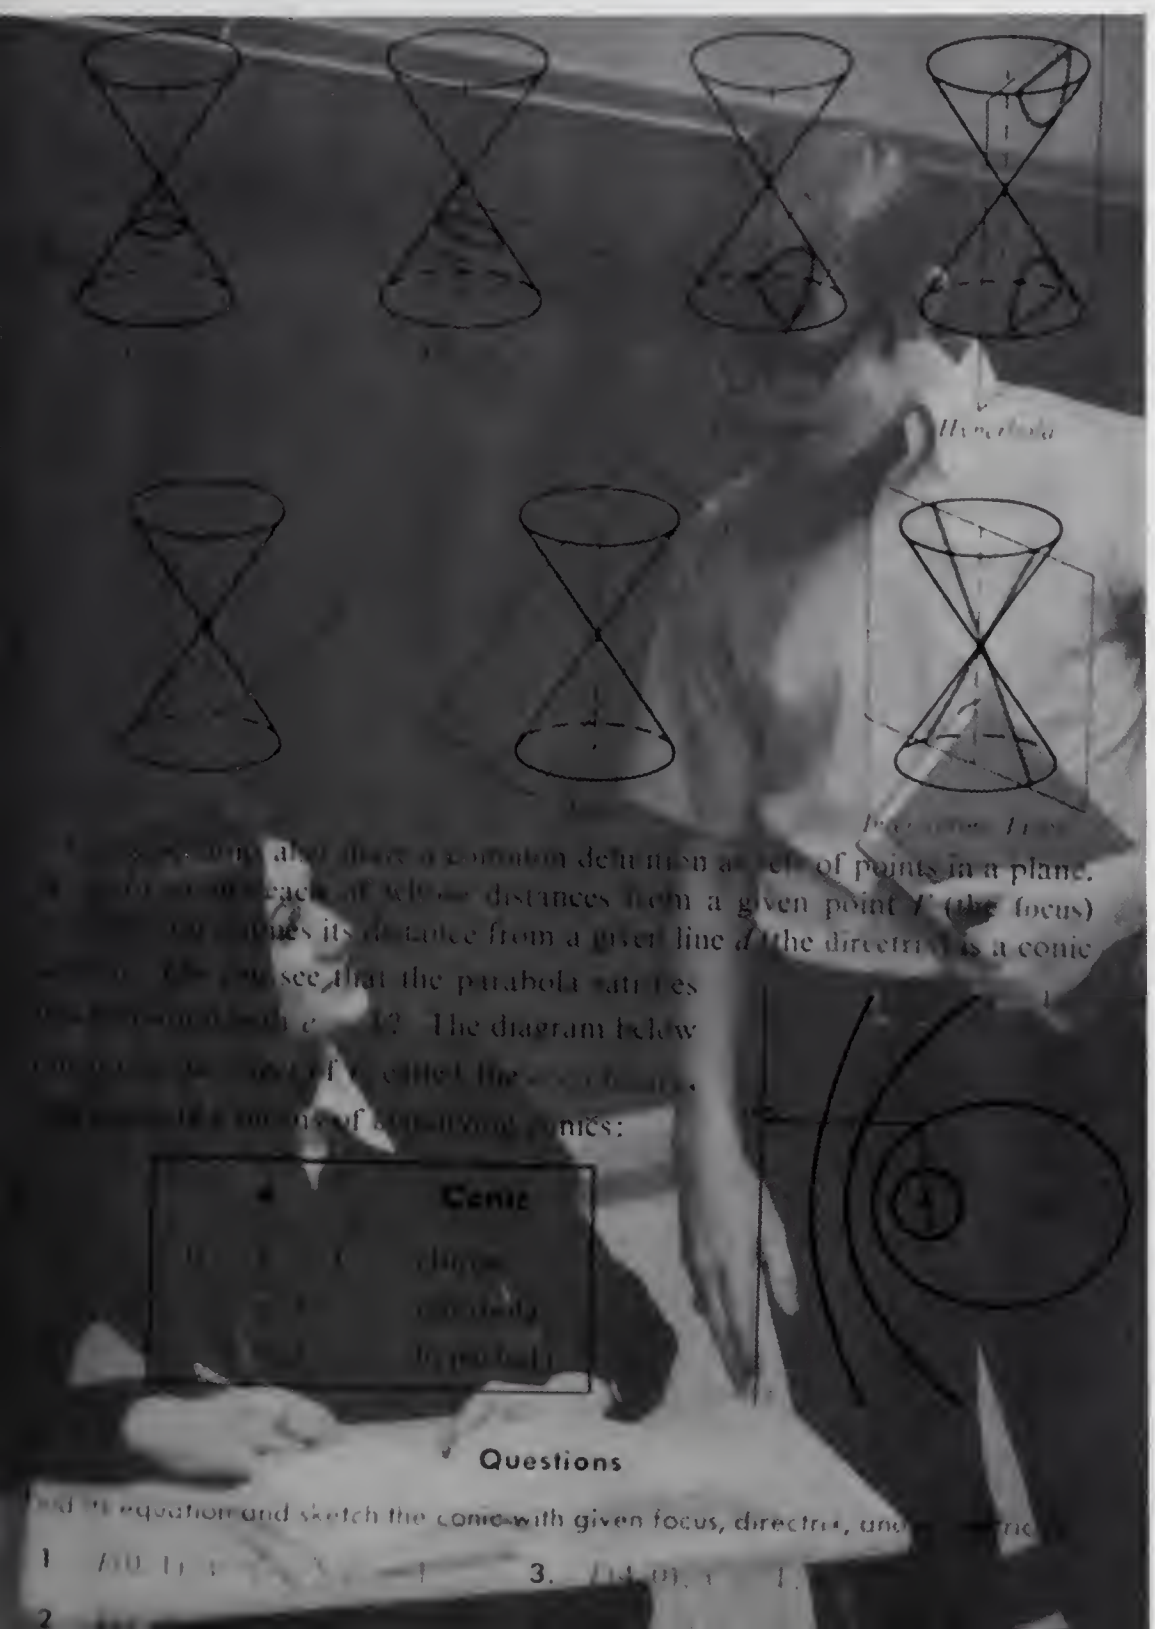
Studying the geography is important in the German course.

Attempting to improve their mathematics skills, these students are struggling through geometry.

the infinite angles of mathematics

The variety of math courses offered allowed math-minded students to investigate this area fully. The students increased their knowledge in Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Analytic Geometry. Students found their way through the maze of numbers, equations, theorems, and logarithms, to an understanding of mathematics.

As geometry completely surrounds Becky Nopper and Mike Shuherk, they patiently search for solutions to an infinite number of perplexing problems to complete their daily assignments.



Striving for the correct answer, Dennis Geeting seems quite absorbed in the problem.

Jerry Dennis seems to have conquered the slide rule for use in physics.

business provides

DHS offers a varying collection of elective business courses. Typing, Shorthand, Business Math, Bookkeeping, Office Practice, General Business, Steno Lab, and Record Keeping are the better known regulars of the curriculum.

Divorce proceedings, adoption methods, and tangled lawsuits are just a few of the problems which the Business Law students encounter. The class also had an opportunity to witness an entire trial at the local courthouse.

Senior Gail Frederick shows her hand in Shorthand.

What key are you looking for? Senior Ron Diehm can't seem to decide what he wants to say.

Seniors Becky Leas and June Pferfferkorn learn how to operate the bookkeeping machine in Steno Lab.

Steno Lab offers many opportunities to students interested in business. Here Senior Dianne Smith operates the stencil duplicator.

Typing class proves to be more trying than Sophomore Nedra Gschwend expected.

opportunities for all

Making Business her major, Mary Michels strives for perfection.

Bookkeeping classes present many problems for Darlyn Moughler, Garry Brand, and Rex Dangler.

Using the new data processing equipment, Jane and June Pfefferkorn prepare the grade cards for DHS.

In Business Math Mr. Smith teaches the students the fundamentals of the business world.

learning through social studies

Seniors Phil Harper and Dave Wehr check the latest newspaper for their stock projects in Economics.

World History classes studied the events of the world and evaluated the significance of present events.

U.S. History classes studied the happenings of the U.S. and discussed current situations.

Government was a required one-semester course for all seniors. Students discovered their important role as participants in a democratic government.

Economics pupils studied the structure of our financial system in the U.S.

Psychology classes studied the behavior of organisms and the psyche experience of people.

Sociology pupils attempted to examine the problems of modern society through discussions.

Exploratory Teaching gave seniors an opportunity to teach in a classroom and observe students' behavior.

Are John Hillmer, John Oberlin, and Kim Hervey really being hypnotized or are they sneaking a snooze?

Presenting their legislative bills to Congress in Government class are Cindy Wagner, Tim May, and Lori Raub.

Each student in Exploratory Teaching must gain experience in a classroom. Senior Yancy Stonestreet gives a demonstration to the class at the chalkboard.

Going once, going twice, sold to the lady in the blue hat. Dennis Kruse auctions off Mike Penland in U.S. History.

Playing games is only one part of the U.S. History course.

Helping a pupil is just one of the duties of Doug Berg, an Exploratory Teacher.

students express themselves thru the arts

The Fine Arts Department, consisting of Art classes, Photography, Bands, Choirs, Fine Arts Appreciation, and Music Theory offered DHS students many opportunities.

The Choirs and Bands presented many concerts during the year, while the Art classes also had a show. Photography students learned how to take effective pictures. Fine Arts Appreciation students studied both music and art, and Music Theory classes studied the fundamentals of music.

Junior Cathy Cook strives for perfection on her piece of pottery.

Making cartoon-like puppets was just one of the many projects of the Unart class.

Girls' Glee Club provided an opportunity for many girls to express themselves through music.

The Freshman Band worked many long hours in order to uphold their standard of quality.

Brown blows booming brass.

Libbie Henning prepares a picture she has taken.

Sophomores Kathy Ackerman and Rick Landers show their creative talent in art class.

Seniors Kim Charleston and Dennis Kutzner show their baron spirit at a pep session by imitating Tom and Dick Smothers.

Rehearsing a trio with Mrs. Hansen in Boys' Glee Club are Ross Berry, Hubert Shaffer, and Dave Bundy.

DeKalb's Marching Barons put on a fine performance during a summer rehearsal.

tomorrow's homemakers master the skills

Sophomores Cathy Clifford and Rita McBride have learned to enjoy washing dishes in Home Ec.

Cathy Wainscott looks surprised as the photographer interrupts her sewing.

Ruth Buchs and Violet Wilhelm discover a large part of sewing is done by hand.

Boys' Home Ec. gave Grover O'Dell and Dick Schiffli an experience they will never forget.

What's cooking? According to Sue Sponhower and Bonnie Stonebraker's expressions, it must look good.

students train for future vocations

The Practical Arts Department gives interested students a background in the use of drawing methods, architectural design, modern building, machine operation, and homemaking. These classes are no longer completely segregated. Some shop classes are coed, and boys are now taking Foods and Family Care.

Steve Close closely inspects an opened short wave radio.

Senior Stan sizzles steel with a scalding welding iron.

On the way to the fields, Craig Walker and Charles Trapp hitch a ride on a tractor.

Team work is essential for well-constructed projects.

Rodney Kennedy, Tom Ellert, and Dennis Schwartz are intent on trying to fix someone's motor.

ict: earn while you learn

A strong back is a great asset for I.C.T.er Dave Days.

The Industrial Cooperative Training program got off to a flying start with 32 students participating the first semester. The class is representative of a wide variety of vocations and many skills have been attained.

Under the leadership of Mr. Zook, the class was divided into small groups for study and discussion pertaining to the things they should know concerning work habits, budgeting, labor relations, taxes, etc. It is anticipated that this experience will be both interesting and valuable to the students and the community.

Mike Sproat's special talents and skills are displayed in this fine cabinet.

On-the-job training provides good experience for Joe Deskins.

Linda Kandel graciously assists a customer.

After a long, hard struggle through calisthenics, the girls take their well-deserved rest.

DHS offers many different types of sports. Here seniors Jim Bush and Bill Decker exhibit their talent at ping-pong.

Participating as teams, the girls anxiously await their turn to help out.

organizations

democracy through student council

One of the many duties performed by Student Council is passing out programs at basketball games.

The varsity basketball squad has just run through the spirit hoop. The hoop is another service of the DeKalb Student Council.

The Student Council started many new projects this year. Swap day was the first on the list with adults and students changing places for one day. The next project was a spirit day to boost the spirit of the student body. Then was the delegate exchange with various other high schools throughout the area. Another responsibility of the council was to sponsor a foreign exchange student and a foster child. They have many more plans now underway that will be carried out in the next school year.

There are Rooms, too small to be in, too dark to see in, and, too close to stay in Trying to contain my thoughts. Fences, too high to crawl over, too strong to crawl through, and, too low to crawl under trying to enclose my feelings. Doors, too strong to open, too thick to penetrate, and, too rusty to budge Trying to lock in my mind. Rooms have windows that let in the sun. Fences have gates that relieve the monotony. Doors have keys that turn the rusty locks. When will I find the window that will let you in . . . to be my sun. The gate that will let me out . . . to be with you. The key that will open the rusty door and open the pathways to you . . . and your heart . . . forever.

—Mary Stone

Two novel clubs brought culture into DeKalb High this year. These clubs were the Chess Club and the Laureate Club. Through these associations, students developed their skills and talents. Many showed a real interest in joining, and it is hoped that the trend will continue next year.

Library service is great!

Student Service includes A. V. Assistants, student secretaries, bookstore workers, health center workers, and teachers' assistants. Most students donate one hour each day. They receive student service points and if enough points are accumulated, medals are awarded. The administration and the faculty appreciate the valuable hours donated by the students.

A. V. is all work . . . and a little play!

probing into a teaching career

Mrs. Couey and Mrs. Voss help make F.T.A. successful.

Members of F.T.A. probe the teaching field in many ways. In cadet teaching, juniors and seniors are able to go directly to a classroom and instruct. Such an experience gives the student a taste of teaching. This year the Elfie Program was started. Teachers receive gifts from a secret person known only as their elfie. Not until the spring F.T.A. banquet are teachers able to confirm their suspicions as to who is their elfie. Other highlights include the Christmas party and speakers at the meetings.

language clubs; our passports into culture . . .

The languages of today are as varied as the societies to which they belong. The members of the language clubs are brought closer to these foreign cultures through various activities within the clubs. French, German, and JCL activities are highlighted by their banquets. The French banquet with its authentic French food aided the members in studying the French food habits. The German Club increased their knowledge in preparing a complete German dinner. With the idea of promoting an interest in culture and habits, the Spanish Club attended a movie in addition to dining at a Spanish restaurant.

Richard Dennison and Sheila Hall practice for the Solo and Ensemble Contest, with Paul Hamman accompanying on the piano.

The Public Relations Choir is a new addition to our musical department this year. The members perform for banquets and meetings of social organizations outside of the school. During the year they sang for the Mayor's Breakfast, the Elks Lodge, the Lion's Club, and the Farm Bureau Annual Meeting. The pianists for the choir, Pat Cornelius and Paul Hamman, offered their services for the Sectional and the Jaycee Banquet which were held at DeKalb High School. Sometimes the choir is paid for its entertainment and sometimes not. Either way, this choir provides outstanding performances and brings our school closer to the public.

concert band, come blow your horns

The Marching Barons started their school year a little early with summer band sessions which began the last week in August. The sessions put the Barons into shape for the State Fair competition. After State Fair, the DeKalb County Fair came around, where the band took second place in Group A. The football season kept the Marching Barons busy with half-time entertainment, along with cheering their Baron Football team on to victory.

Solo and Ensemble Contest came next for the band. Seventy-five percent of the students who participated in the district competition received a first in group I and went on to state. At state, one hundred per cent received a first, or a superior rating.

The band served the public with the fine performance of two concerts. Also, half-time entertainment was provided for the spectators at basketball games by the Pep Band, twirlers, and baronettes.

The Marching Barons ended the year with a field trip to Hamilton where they played at a convocation ceremony. The Senior Banquet brought a successful year for the Music Department to a close.

words cannot express . . .

The year 1969 brought out many expressions on the gridiron, including victory and defeat. John Platt always has a good showing on the field and this year was no exception. A loss of 21 seniors will hit the Barons hard next year, but this year will truly be remembered as a "Sign of the Times."

Loyal Baron fans backed their team throughout the football season. Eager fans carried blankets and hot cocoa to the nippy football fields to cheer the team on toward victory. The fans were always there, loyal and true.

The 1969 campaign started good with a victory on the Barons' first showing in a pre-season jamboree. Early season victories sent hopes into the minds of many who saw another Conference crown for the Men-In-Red this year. It is appropriate to add, that although on a couple occasions the Barons were outscored, they were never defeated.

reserves boast 5—1—1 mark for season

Baron Reserves are shown here on a drive that resulted in 7 of the B-Team's 26 points in a rout of the Columbia City squad.

Reserve footballers turned in one of the best records this year that had ever been compiled before, at the Home of the Barons. The underclassmen lost just one encounter through the season while they picked up one tie and five victories. Their list of successes find a 54—6 trouncing of Howe Military and victories over such NEIC schools as Angola, East Noble, and Columbia City. The future continues to look brighter for the Men-In-Red!

frosh gridders open high school careers: undefeated in all outings

The Frosh side of the football scene at DHS came out equally as well as the Reserves did. The only reason the Frosh did not win as many games was simply that they do not play as many as the older contingent does. The team started the season, and their high school careers, with an 8—8 tie with Concordia and then they settled down the remainder of the season and didn't even let their opponents score. The Frosh blanked Garrett, Angola, and East Noble before they were tied by Columbia City in the season finale by a score of 0—0.

Coach L. Davy has had one of his best seasons also this year. The stamina and power that the Freshmen showed was of the qualities that champions come from, and that is exactly what Coach Platt has in mind for these boys in the future. Yes, DeKalb figures to be one of the NEIC powerhouses in the years to come.

Barons are the first to cross the finish line in a meet held at Greenhurst Country Club.

All hats are tipped to the cross country team at DeKalb this year and also to veteran coach Niles Walton. The Baron harriers compiled a 14—4 won-loss record. The team pulled off key victories in the NEIC as well as against such powers as Huntington, Fort Wayne North and Fort Wayne Central. Runners also represented DeKalb well in the dual and tourney meets. The Indianapolis Shortridge Invitational Tournament, with teams there from throughout the Hoosier state and the Midwest, found the Barons in the No. Five position.

Leading runner for the Men-In-Red this year was Senior Ken Akey. Others who were consistent in scoring and will be an added attraction to the Baron effort next year were Ira Magginnis and Gary Teixeira.

All in all, the Barons had a good season and they expect to keep that record going strong in the future.

netters gain skill and valuable

It was truly a disappointing season for the tennis team this year after a good season had been forecast. The sport switched from the spring to the fall this year so that they would be eligible in the future to participate in tournament play. In spite of all this it still seems as though next year's team is destined to improve as six members of the squad will be returning. Congratulations goes to this team for their fine efforts and good luck next year.

Head coach of the tennis team, Ned Schlosser, watched his team improve throughout the season. Above, he is at a meet held in Auburn.

This past year found still more improvement in the sport of wrestling, especially by underclassmen. Hurt heavily by graduation last year, the grapplers stressed rebuilding this past season. With an experienced man as coach of the team, the Men-In-Red headed into a long hard season with some of the state's best on the agenda. The matmen came out of the ordeal in fairly good shape. But the biggest asset that they had was the experience gained through the contests.

And of course, the fans were ever-present at the matches. The new sport attracted quite a few onlookers who later became die-hard enthusiasts.

The final tally for the Barons came up on the dark side of the ledger, but the team was truly another "Sign of the Times".

Truly another "Sign of the Times" was the gymnastics team this year. Seven members attended the state tournament, the squad placed in the second spot at the sectional, and they also put together the first winning season since the team's inception in 1967. A look at the scores of the meets this year quickly reveals that the team is one of the best in this area.

No small part of that success was due to the coach of the team. Coach Steve Bowman has been leading the team since the start, all the way from a winless season to a winning one.

Seven members of the 1970 squad were seniors (they affectionately call themselves the Senior Seven) but this should be no cause for alarm. Underclassmen figured strongly in the Barons success this year, and they will be able to fill in where needed come next year. The gymnastics team continues to set the kind of tradition that all Barons want to lay claim to . . . the winning kind.

reserves have well-balanced attack

A new coach was introduced this year for the reserve basketball squad. Coach Barkman instituted new defense patterns and practice methods into the already fine training program for DHS athletes. The 7—13 record that the underclassmen compiled is a bit deceiving. Nine of the Barons' losses came about with less than ten points being the difference between victory and defeat. Impressive victories over such area powers as South Side, Snider, and Portland added to the long string of highlights of the junior Barons this past year.

The team started out the season with a rout of Portland and then suffered defeats at the hands of Huntington and Central Catholic of Fort Wayne. The team tromped over once-powerful Garrett and improving Eastside.

The Holiday tourney held at Carroll High School was almost captured by the reserves but in the championship game, Leo barely escaped with a victory by the score of 46—43.

While in his first year of coaching, Richard Barkman fired up his team for many important victories.

c-team eyes reserve squad: improve for future

Underclassmen continued to bring optimism to the future of DeKalb. The frosh and C-team basketball men represented the people who will be the Baron varsity squad in the future. If the frosh record of seventeen wins and two losses is any indication of what will be happening next year of the year after that then there will be no doubt that the Barons will keep bringing home those sectional crowns and will be getting their feet wet in Regional play.

Coaches Wayne Wyss and Larry Dove governed their charges to winning seasons. The frosh brought home the trophies from tourneys at East Noble and DeKalb. With late season losses to Leo and Village Woods the Frosh tromped over their other opponents by comfortable margins. With these optimistic statistics on the side of the Barons, next year will also be another "Sign of the Times".

barons race to 17—7 season

Besides the superb 17—7 mark that the Barons left on the record books there were a number of other feats that the roundballers contrived. The 1969-70 season marked the first time the Barons brought home a conference crown and it was the third sectional crown for the Men-In-Red.

But most of all, the student body was behind the team—even when they trailed by six points with two minutes to go in the sectional tournament. No one will forget the long hard trips on fan buses, or the long hard games in the gym where we sat on the long hard benches.

Twenty-four games and a long hard season later we sat to reflect and view this year's action as another "Sign of the Times."

barons claim neic title for first time

The track team not only is involved in running the cinders but the field events are just as competitive. The Barons had a strong field event entry in most of their meets.

In reviewing the immediate season of the track team this year, it is much the same story as for the 1969 squad. Both teams won the Kokomo Relays, the Goshen Extravaganza, and also a plurality of their individual meets. Under the direction of Coach Robert Voelkel, the Barons added one more line to their already bulging success story . . . the NEIC Championship. This was the first time that DeKalb (or Voelkel for that matter) had ever taken home the conference crown.

The reserve season was also an impressive one this year with a very fine record of four wins and two losses. Larry Dove assisted Voelkel with the reserves this year.

When the tourneys came around, we were a bit less successful with only two Barons qualifying for the Regional and both of those, the Seiss twins, failed to make the state competition.

Below, and at right, are some of the scenes at any track meet. Faculty members take charge of the scoring while the Barons are busy racking up the points.

The 1969-70 school year brought home many honors for DeKalb High School. New clubs and new records kept the student body busy. But one that stands out in the minds of most is the Girls' Athletic Association. The GAA participated in every major sport along with a few of their own. Under the able guidance of their faculty advisors, the GAA enjoyed its most prosperous year with more than 100 girls on its membership rolls. They had inter-scholastic competition with girls from all over northern Indiana. Officers of this year's club planned winter and spring outings for the girls with contests and awards. President Vicki Gerbers thought that even more could be done next year with the continued support of the student body . . . well, at least the girls' bodies!!

From basketball to batgirls, GAA was active throughout the sports scene at DeKalb.

Varsity Cheerleaders: Sandy Miser, Cyndi Stebing, Carma Gramling, Nancy Taylor, Tedra Simanton, and Colleen Brace.

"Ladies and gentlemen, our national anthem."

"Barons, are you with us?" Colleen Brace helps keep our Baron Spirit alive.

The varsity cheerleaders' enthusiasm and spirit led the Baron teams through victorious seasons.

Reserve Cheerleaders: (top to bottom) Vickie Knott, Beth Sockrider, and Candi Dove.

Candi Dove starts a yell of encouragement for the B-Team.

Frosh cheerleaders lead yells as they spur the Mini Barons on to victory.

Providing DeKalb with an educational system which reflects the desires and needs of the community is one of the primary functions of the Administration and School Board. The Administration always strives for perfection in the education of the students, although the way is not always smooth. For DeKalb's third year of existence the School Board has proven its ability to work together. Each member had to be able to help provide the proper guidance for the educators of DeKalb students. If he did not know the answer he had to know where to find it. Opinons of experts, teachers, and parents were considered by the Administration and School Board as they tried to do what the community wanted.

Entertaining at the Greater Class of 70's Baccalaureate service were the Girls' Glee Club and the A Cappella Choir.

Awaiting the processional, the seniors appear sad.

the memories

Miss Mavis graciously assisted by playing the organ for the Baccalaureate service.

Sadness is depicted on the faces of the graduating seniors.

Although many of the seniors were sad, these few seem to be enjoying everything.

Serving as guest speakers were Father Reginald, Reverend Jagow, and Reverend Schuette.

Contemplating seniors await the processional.

'70 Commencement: Ron Diehm—Welcome; Cathie Johnson—Intention; Sue Brown —Invocation; Dennis Kutzner—Benediction; and Jeff Turner—Farewell.

Class Sponsor Mr. Boyer is doing the last job for the Class of 1970—collecting caps and gowns.

Saying goodbye to friends is the hardest part of graduating.

introducing . . . shelley

This year DeKalb High School acquired a new Baron fan. A petite girl with long brown hair and big brown eyes are reflected in Shelley Staddon. Shelley, being a native South African from the town of East London, found DHS a thrilling experience. Arriving in August, she came in time to support the Barons' many victories during the football season, to enjoy her first county fair, and to greet the ending of fall and the beginning of winter. During the cold months of December and January, Shelley experienced some "firsts" in her life. Snow and her very first snow ball fight were some of the biggest excitements for her. As a member of Pep Club, she enjoyed basketball games like a true Baron. Unfortunately, Shelley had to return to South Africa in January, but she will remain in the minds and hearts of many of the DHS students and faculty.

As a member of Drama Club, Shelley takes part in the Drama Club picnic.

Shelley braves the cold she's never known, to enjoy her first snow.
